

Part II Discussion Questions (5 Qs, 2 responses; 3 pts possible for each; maximum of 15 total for each set of films)

- Why are the transnational security issues featured in the films and articles intermestic issues?
- How are states, IGOs, and/or NGOs prominent in promoting human security in the films and articles?
- How can international law through global governance apparently both promote and hinder addressing transnational issues?
- How are threats of human security, especially due to supply and demand of goods and services, prominent in these films and articles?
- What are the key factors that interfere with addressing transnational issues?